Dear Sir,

Regards to your proposal to build 90 houses in the village of Thrussington we have a few objections. As it is a very small community it will become gridlocked with parking an issue already the extra vehicles would mean there will be no where to park and with no bus service how else are people to get anywhere? The village would be spoilt. There is limited facilities in the village with only minor roads leading into the village not designed to take all the extra vehicles these houses would create. There is a lot of bad parking especially at the end of Old Gate Road as it is.
60 houses off Old Gate Road is beyond belief, it is a narrow single track lane, to pass you have to go on the grass verge and there are deep ditches either side. It is a wild life haven which would be destroyed. The lane has to be used by farm vehicles as well as cars and is also popular for recreational use and wouldn't cope with the extra traffic this would create.
The A46 is a very busy, fast road with no slip road onto it from Old Gate Road and is very sharp and dangerous.
We are all against these new houses, please think again, it is a very bad idea. Surely there are much better places to put up new houses, how about renovating places with derelict buildings on instead of destroying the countryside.

Yours sincerely
