

Information requirements for applications for outline planning permission

Applications for outline planning permission generally need not give details of any proposed reserved matters unless the matters include layout, scale or access. However if a local planning authority receives an application for outline planning permission, but decides that the application ought not to be considered separately from all or any of the reserved matters, it must notify the applicant within one month from the receipt of the application that further details must be submitted. The local planning authority should also specify what further details are needed.

This situation should not be confused with applications where inadequate information is submitted.

Even if layout, scale and access are reserved, an application will still require a basic level of information. As a minimum, applications should always include information on:

- Use – the use or uses proposed for the development and any distinct development zones within the site identified.
- Amount of development – the amount of development proposed for each use.
- Indicative layout – an indicative layout with separate development zones proposed within the site boundary where appropriate.
- Scale parameters – an indication of the upper and lower limits for height, width and length of each building within the site boundary.
- Indicative access points – an area or areas in which the access point or points to the site will be situated.

In addition to the information above, applications for outline planning permission should also include a Design and Access Statement.
