Subject: Thrussington building plans

My wife and I are very disturbed to hear about the proposal to build 90 new houses in Thrussington. Whilst we realise that developments are required to increase the housing stock we think that there are several points that make this plan unsound. The number proposed would increase the size of the village by nearly 40% with no mention of additional facilities. The main issues are

- No public transport
- No convenient store
- No play area
- No medical facilities

Access to both sites would be along narrow roads causing issues of parking, safety and congestion.

We understand that there are already problems with the sewage system in places which can only get worse unless major work is undertaken.

So, in our opinion, this plan has not been thought through properly and is out of proportion to the size of the village and its facilities.

Yours faithfully
