

SUPPORT FOR UKRAINIANS

Free online resources from The Open University for Ukrainians and those offering support in their communities

The Open University has launched a new short course about Ukrainian language and culture, on OpenLearn, it's free learning platform.

It is for anyone who stands with Ukraine.

Whether hosting Ukrainian refugees or supporting in the community; for professionals providing support services; or those who simply wish to learn more about Ukrainian language, culture and people, it has been designed and written with community in mind, with practical resources and information to support in a variety of situations and context.

It also includes two interactive forums, one for language support and the other for community peer to peer support.

Ukrainian Language Hub

The Open University is also offering a suite of free online resources for Ukrainians settling in the UK and Ireland, from language and careers-based courses, to articles on mental health and wellbeing, which are available in both English and in Ukrainian.

Both are accessible from the course page, via the QR code, or the links below.
